Skateboard park planned

CAMPBELL'S FIRST skateboard park could be under construction soon on Bascom ave. if plans unveiled last week get the official go ahead.

And a second development for the dedicated sidewalk surfer is in the planning stages for Winchester boulevard, near Sunnyoaks.

Last week Mike Phelan, co-owner of Concrete Curl, Inc. made a 45 minute presentation to members of the city Parks and Recreation Commission outlining plans for the 1.75 acre parcel at 2155 S. Bascom ave. adjacent to Baker Trailer Sales.

The development, which is expected to come before the Planning Commission next month, would feature contours and "hills" of solid cement, astro-turf for some green relief and a clubhouse with snack foods and electronic game machines for skateboarders.

THE LIGHTED facility could handle up to 100 youngsters per hour, Phelan reported, and would charge $1 per hour plus a rental fee for required safety equipment. That equipment includes helmets, gloves and knee and elbow pads for skateboarders.

Phelan envisions the first park in Campbell as a facility for skateboard jockeys of all skill levels, from beginner to advanced.

The 140-510 foot lot will include some high vertical walls (constructed like the shell of a swimming pool), a free style area and a half-cylinder tunnel for the more adventurous.

City commissioners were shown a detailed slide presentation last Thursday highlighting skateboards parks now operating in southern California.

"Skateboarding is something that will be around for awhile," Phelan told commissioners. "It is also slated for the 1980 Olympics in Russia."

SUPPORT FOR THE local plan came from Acting Chairman John Ashworth who said he was impressed with the facility he viewed in Anaheim while on a convention trip.

"I've never seen so many kids together at one location with so little noise," Ashworth declared.

The Commission voted 5-0 to support the concept of a skateboard park in Campbell.

This is the second proposed development by Concrete Curl, Inc. Also in the works is a similar park at Capitol and Alum Rock ave. in San Jose.

According to planning department staffers the Bascom ave. proposal isn't the only one under discussion. Representatives of another firm have been visiting City Hall to firm up plans for a skateboard park on Winchester boulevard. No formal plans have been sumitted, however.

According to Phelan, his firm has researched the Bascom ave. location since last November. If approval is granted, he told commissioners, the park could be completed in 1 to 2 months.

I noticed all the Herfy's restaurants are closed. What happened?

Junk Food Junkie

Editor's note: The Herfy's have been doing well in the Sacramento and Washington state area but not so well in this county, according to one employee. A company representative for this area reports his 12 units are all being sold. So far, five to Jack-in-the-box, one to a bank and one to Burger King. At last report negotiations for the two Campbell restaurants are incomplete and the prospective buyers have not been announced.

Last week you listed part of the Frog Jump Contest winners but left out the adults. How come?

Frog Lover

Editor's note: The end of the story was cut due to a lack of space but winners were (in adult division) first place, Pat Safford (Wonder Frog), second place, George Roush (Clyde); and third place Mary Miller (Toby).

I say "Hear, Hear" for the councilmen who voted for that new law. Campbell doesn't need any of that filth (pornography) in this town.

A Supporter

Only in my city could they have a "crackdown on smut" before we have any. I'm not complaining. I'll bet some of the other cities in this county wished they'd done the same thing.

Tickled

If the idea of this new law is to keep pornography out of our city I think the powers that be may be in for some problems. Better minds than theirs have struggled with the definition of pornography and have failed. I wonder. Will they have to review all of the wares in a bookstore first to determine what is and what isn't?

Free Thinker

Why couldn't the city just outlaw porno shops? I don't see any reason for them pussyfooting around with some new knuckleheaded law some sharp lawyer will find a loophole for.

Old Timer

I think there should be a phono booth on the Budd ave. entrance to John D. Morgan Park. There's one on the other end now but what if someone's injured or there's an emergency at the other side of that park? By the way, there's no sign letting people know there IS a phone near Rincon ave.

Concerned

Editor's note: We referred this question to Public Works about two weeks ago and they're looking into it. One of the problems is that the pay phone on the Rincon ave. side of the park is out of order most of the time due to vandalism. Perhaps the new park monitors being paid for with federal CETA funds will be able to do some good.

$141,450 in funding

Housing rehab underway

By PAT SAFFORD

THE TAP, TAP, TAP of hammers will be a familiar sound in downtown neighborhoods in coming weeks as the Campbell Housing Rehabilitation Program picks up steam.

Twenty two of the 250 eligible homes have been surveyed, five loans approved and work began last week on the first home on N. First st.

The idea behind the program, paid for with $141,450 in federal housing and community development funds, is to help homeowners fix up their homes through low or no cost construction loans. A $200 grant from the city, that goes to help with exterior face-lifting such as painting, is an extra inducement.

"The idea is to bring homes up to pleasantly liveable standards," explains Thom McCue, housing coordinator.

TYPES OF WORK to be done include reroofing, electrical and foundation work and refurbishing stairs, windows and fences. Room additions can also be included through the program as long as there's a need (such as a large family in a 3-bedroom home).

Along with housing rehab, the Public Works Department will be doing some street fix-ups; particularily in the San Tomas target area.

Actually there are about 400 homes in the downtown core that could use major improvements, but just 250 of these are owner occupied; a program requirement.

Campbell's rehab program had its official kick-off in May and the goal is to have 36 homes completed by May of 1978.

There's no minimum as far as home improvements are concerned, a $400 fence job would qualify, but there is a maximum. $10,000 is about tops for repairs and additions.

AND THIS ISN'T a program just for the low-income either. Those qualifying can earn up to a maximum of 150 per cent of the median county income, or $24,300 yearly for a family of three.

The big difference is with interest rates on the loan. For those below the 50 per cent income mark ($8,100 for a family of three) there's no interest charged. As the income level climbs so does the interest, from 4 per cent for 50 to 99.9 per cent to 8 per cent near the 150 per cent range; still well under current homeowners loans.

A group of 10 contractors are bidding on the construction projects but, according to McCue, more are needed to bid.

"The problem is that there is a lot of construction work available in other areas now," he explained.

So far McCue's Loan Committee has had to turn down just one request for funding. That was the man who wanted to make his garage into a living room, build a new garage, backyard pool and barbecue area.

Budget cut by a third

County Sanitation District No. 4 has reduced its' tax rate by 4.7 cents per $100 of assessed value.

The district's operating budget is $4.7 million while the construction budget is $2.7 million. A tax levy of 3.7 cents will be charged users for the operating budget and 5.8 cents for the payment of the $522,065 in principal and interest payments on the district's bonded indebtedness of $6.5 million.

This total of 9.5 cents in tax rate is 33 per cent below last years rate of 14.2 cents, and when combined with the District's sewer service charge of $2.75 per month, will result in a $47 annual cost to a typical homeowner for wastewater collection and disposal.

The $4.7 million operating budget includes $1.3 million for services and supplies, $2.6 for reserves, $549.250 for salaries, and $288,120 for capital improvements.

The construction budget of $2.7 million includes $1.9 million for the district's share of Water Pollution Control Plant facilities built this year, and $747,000 for trunk sewer construction.

A CHRISTENING, of sorts, was held last week for the Campbell downtown housing rehabilitation program as everyone wielded a hammer or axe. From left, Bob Browne, contractor; Thom McCue, director of the Rehab program, Mayor Bill Podgorsek and Carleen Schroeder who watches carefully as her First st. porch is "broken in." There's no permanent damage done though. That porch is being replaced as part of the Schroeder's refurbishing program.

Housing plan is underway

ALL THESE projects might be eligible, McCue said, if there was other major rehabilitation work to be done. But in this case, there wasn't.

The target area includes homes bounded by Hamilton ave. on the north, Kennedy ave. on the south, the railroad tracks on the east and Winchester on the west.

For those in this area who would like to take part the procedure is easy. First, an application form is obtained from City Hall, 75 N. Central ave., then McCue and Don Buhweitz, a county housing counselor, do a survey of the home and report back with cost estimates. From there homeowners apply for a loan, the Loan Committee reviews it and puts out a call for bids.

Right now the entire process, from application to work underway takes about two months. But that's because there's no backlog.

For more information about the program contact McCue at 378-8141 weekdays.

SPEEDWAY SOLD

Racing at the San Jose Speedway will come to a close permanently, Saturday night, September 3, according to Bob Barkhimer, part owner of the track.

The speedway which has been a San Jose landmark for years, has been sold with the close of escrow to come contingent on planning commission approval, which seems to be assured sometime in September.

The land the track now sits on will reportedly be used to construct a mobile home park.

Noise pollution

Quiet! A proposed ordinance to allow local governments the framework to establish control over harmful noises has been forwarded to all local government municipalities in the state by the Department of Health this week.

City budget for final okay

ADOPTION of the final budget, final approval of a new law to curb porno shops and action on the long-stalled downtown parking district are scheduled for the Monday, August 22 meeting of the Campbell City Council.

Meetings start at 8 p.m. in the Council Chamber, 75 N. Central ave.

Approval of the budget and setting the tax rate will be a quick formality next week after the day-long budget session held on Tuesday, August 16.

Second reading and adoption of a new law equiring use permits for book stores, theaters and other businesses such as bowling alleys and arcades also comes before the Council.

ORIGINALLY, the Planning Commission considered new commercial zoning laws which would have specifically prohibited adult book stores and adult movie houses. But City Attorney Bob Dempster advised the proper way to control such businesses was through the use permit procedure. He also told officials it would be legally awkward to try to differentiate between adult book stores and theaters and regular businesses.

Also on the agenda is:

- The continued hearing of Fred Sahadi's plans for a 100-unit motel complex called Campbell Inn on a 5.35 parcel just west of the Highway 17 overpass on Campbell ave. Earlier, protests by residents of the nearby Poplar-Maple st. area, prompted a delay to allow city staffers to meet with the development architect and concerned residents. Main focus of their concern was with increased traffic generated by the development. At the last Council session a spokesman for the residents reported they realize some development of that area is inevitable and that the motel will probably generate less traffic than other possible uses such as apartments. Residents asked for a report on traffic impact on their residential streets after the motel is operating.

- AN APPEAL by Robert Firato on plans for a discotheque-coffee house catering to teens at the intersection of Railway and Campbell avenues. The Planning Commission turndown of the proposal was based on reports of possible traffic hazards at that location and inadequate parking plans. This is the fourth continuance of that scheduled appeal, based on requests from Firato's attorney.

- A hearing on the expenditure of Campbell's federal revenue sharing funds for the 1977-78 fiscal year.

- A report on the street widening-signal improvement project at Winchester-Campbell ave. Two bids were received prior to the last council meeting, both higher than the engineer's estimate of $143,400. Piazza bid $170,484.14 while Zipse came in at $178,013.58. The bids were held pending a report from the engineering department.

- A FIRST reading on an amendment to the city plumbing code requiring water conservation devices in all new housing construction.

- Discussion of a new policy statement which prohibits reinbursement for mileage for city officials and commissioners for travel within the county.

- A report on the application by the Youth for Truth crusade of Salinas for use of John D. Morgan Park for a sing-a-thon. Under city regulations, the park may not be used for religious gatherings.

COUNTY-WIDE PARAMEDICS

Campbell's paramedics may soon be serving a much bigger area if the county-wide paramedic program adopted by county supervisors last week passes all hurdles.

According to the plan, presented by the fire chief's association, the county would be divided into 10 service areas with a paramedic unit for each area. Campbell would serve this city, Los Gatos, part of Monte Sereno and surrounding areas of the county and San Jose.

The present 30,000 population service area would be expanded to 120,000.

Supervisors set aside $1 million for implementation of the plan.

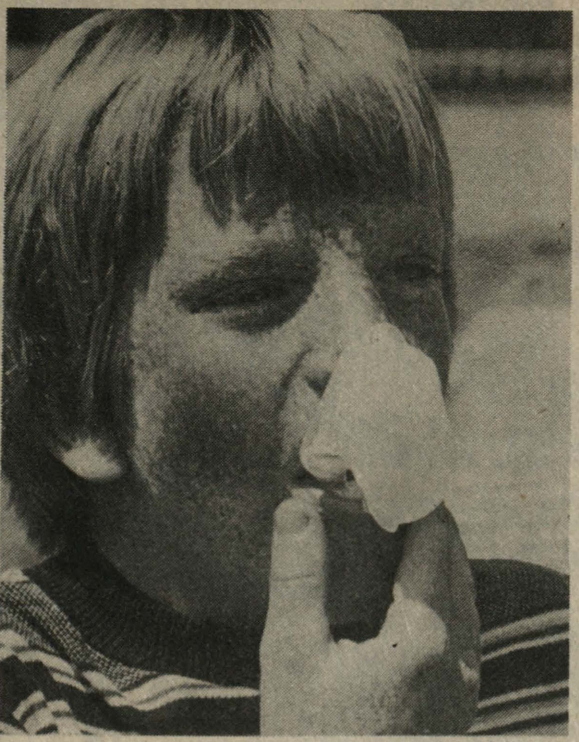
HAMILTON TALKS WILL WAIT

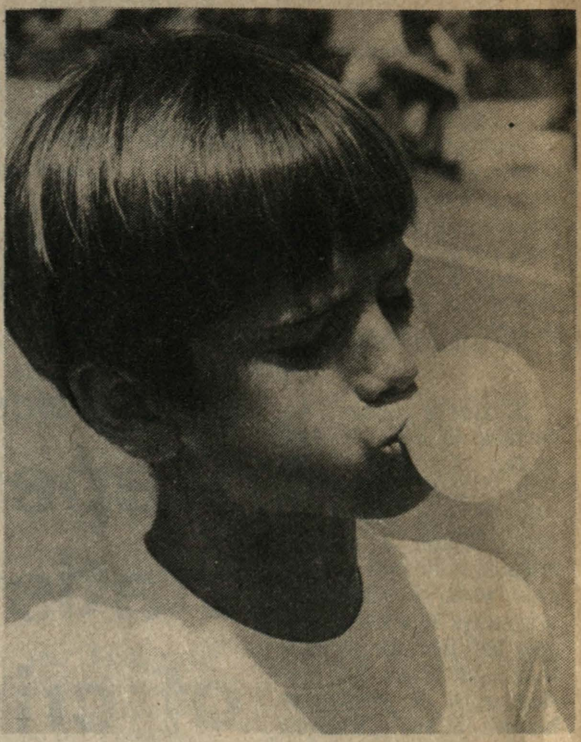
Conflicts with vacation schedules has led to a delay in the planned joint meeting between the Campbell City Council and the Board of Trustees for the Campbell elementary school district.

Main topic to be discussed is possible future use of Hamilton School as well as the district's plans for other school sites such as the old grammar school property.

According to City Manager Bob Stephens, he and Superintendent Walt House met recently and decided that meeting cannot be held until sometime in late September due to vacation plans by trustees and councilmen.

The agony and the ecstacy





While Richard Yarbrough, 11, (right) was on his way to winning the biggest bubble award for his age group at the Campbell library Bubble Gum Contest last Tuesday, Steve Alberta's chances went bust (left) when that 12-year-old's huge bubble sprang a leak. Over 100 youngsters took part in the event which included prizes of books for the first bubble, the biggest and the longest lasting.

EIR question

Parking district up for discussion

TO REQUIRE OR not to require an environmental impact (EIR) report is a key question in the modified downtown off-street parking district proposal coming before the Campbell City Council this Monday, August 22.

Planning Director Art Kee was directed by the Council last week to decide if a negative declaration should be allowed or if an EIR will be needed.

Plans call for creating three separate parking areas to serve The Factory and The Bodega. The area behind the large shopping complex would be converted into a double-decker parking lot.

Last week city councilmen made it clear there won't be a repeat of the financial arrangements for the original parking district which left Campbell holding the bag to the tune of about $100,000 in costs when that first plan folded.

ATTORNEYS FOR THE two businesses were asked to draw up a formal agreement stipulating the owners, not the city, will be responsible for any costs in setting up the district should it fail to be completed.

The original district, which would have included most of the downtown area, failed when property owners complained the costs were too high and backed off. While that petition is still officially on the books it isn't viable since the bids for construction have lapsed.

If the modified parking district plan goes ahead the city will be able to recover about $25,000 of that $100,000 loss since The Bodega and Factory owners can use (and pay for) some of the engineering studies done for the original district.

Getting a 'kick' out of autos

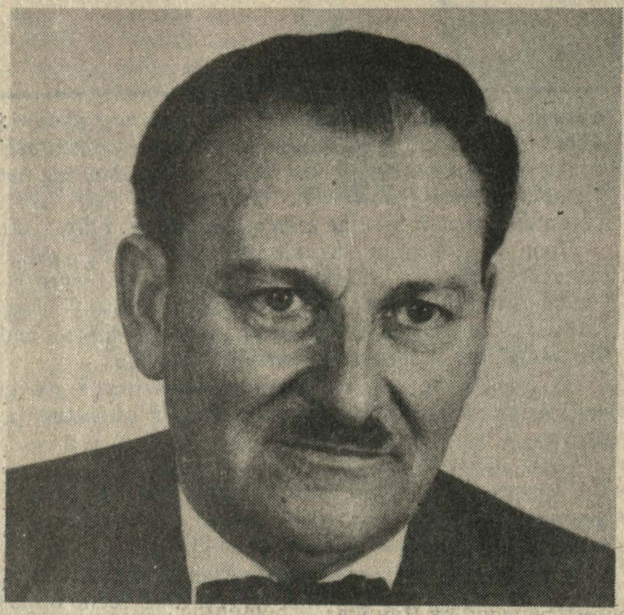
A 24-year-old apparent "world traveler" was booked into a local mental health facility for assaulting cars at Budd Ave. and San Tomas Expressway last Sunday.

The arresting officer observed the man kicking at cars and talking to himself as he walked along with a "fixed stare" in his eyes.

The man said he had had trouble in San Diego, Los Angeles, and England being attacked by cars, and now he was being harrassed by Campbell autos.

"I hear funny voices far away as cars go by," he explained.

The man was held for a 72 hour observation period.



OLEG A LUBECKIS

3-2 vote

Planning commissioner squeaks into new term

TWO CITY councilmen broke long-standing tradition last week by casting "no" votes for the reappointment of a Campbell planning commissioner they later charged has failed to perform adequately under pressure.

Oleg A. Lubeckis, whose term expired August 1, was granted another four year term by a 3-2 vote of the City Council. Voting against that reappointment were Mayor Bill Podgorsek and Councilman Rusty Hammer.

Another commissioner up for reappointment that night, J. DuWayne Dickson, garnered the usual 5-0 vote.

Lubeckis, who has served on the local commission since Feb. 28, 1972, wasn't concerned about that close vote.

"So?" he responded when asked his reaction. "Big deal! I could care less one way or the other. I may just be in somebody's hair," he added.

CONTACTED LATER, both city officials said they voted their conscience in the reappointment matter.

"I have watched Mr. Lubeckis," Podgorsek explained, "especially when he served as chairman of the Planning Commission. I feel we could do better in recruiting and I'm not satisfied with his reaction to pressure (at meetings)."

Hammer said he concurs with Podgorsek's feelings adding, "I was particularly concerned with the way members of the public were treated and I felt his (Lubeckis') conduct at various meetings was improper."

Both officials cited instances in which Lubeckis, who was then serving as chairman, became angry at applicants or group spokesmen who appeared before the official body. One in particular, a specialist from the county Human Relations Commission, was brusquely challenged by Lubeckis as to his credentials as a "specialist."

ON JUST ONE other occasion, in March of 1971, local planning commissioners were challenged by the City Council. But in this case, two men were removed from their posts by a 4-1 vote before their terms ended. These two had been at loggerheads with the Council over the issue of adding a third screen to the local drive-in theatre. The apparent spark which set off the ouster after months of conflict was the commission session in which the two reportedly spent time deriding the City Council for its favorable stand on the theatre addition.

The most recent case doesn't involve an ouster but appears to indicate a "no confidence" vote by two councilmen.

Leuthauser looks forward to his career as administrator at Community Hospital and intends to become fully acquainted with its' policies, procedures and personnel, he said.

Isn't it illegal to work on cars in your front yard? We have a neighbor who is always working on other people's cars in his driveway. He has those car engines pulled out. It's a mess. I thought we had a new law.

Curious

Editor's note: According to Sgt. Ed Fallgatter of the Campbell Police Department, the activity you describe is illegal. Under the recently adopted ordinance auto repair work is allowed in driveways in emergencies only and then for no more than eight hours. The resident must be working on his own car and, if someone else is called into do the repair work, the time limit is two hours. Call police, Fallgatter says, if you're having these problems in your neighborhood. "We'll do our best to cite (the offenders)," he added.

I'm sick and tired of looking at those two buildings at Campbell Junior High School (portables). Those monstristies have been there about six weeks now and it seems like a year. What are they going to do with them?

Loyal Reader

Editor's note: According to a spokesman for the business office of the Campbell elementary school district, those buildings are to be used as additional classrooms to serve the boost in enrollment with the transfer of Blackford's seventh and eighth grade students. "We just moved them in and we will be doing what we can to straighten them up and make them look like regular school buildings," the official said.

Repeat offender statistics grim side of crime numbers

By FRED W. KLINE
Capitol News Service

Recent statistics released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation showed that the crime rate had dropped sharply during the first three months of 1977.

While these figures are heartening, it is not yet time for dancing in the streets.

Several factors could have contributed to the drop, not the least of which was the severe winter in the Midwest and East.

But in light of preliminary figures for 1976, which indicate a leveling off of serious crimes and a decrease in violent crimes, it is likely that even without the extremely cold winter the crime rate would be down at least somewhat.

Everything is relative, however. It is just possible that the law of averages caught up with the American society and crime couldn't continue to go up as rapidly as it was.

In 1975, for instance, the serious crime rate was up 10 per cent. The year before that it was 18 per cent. Things couldn't keep on that way without vigilantes taking to the streets in many areas of the country.

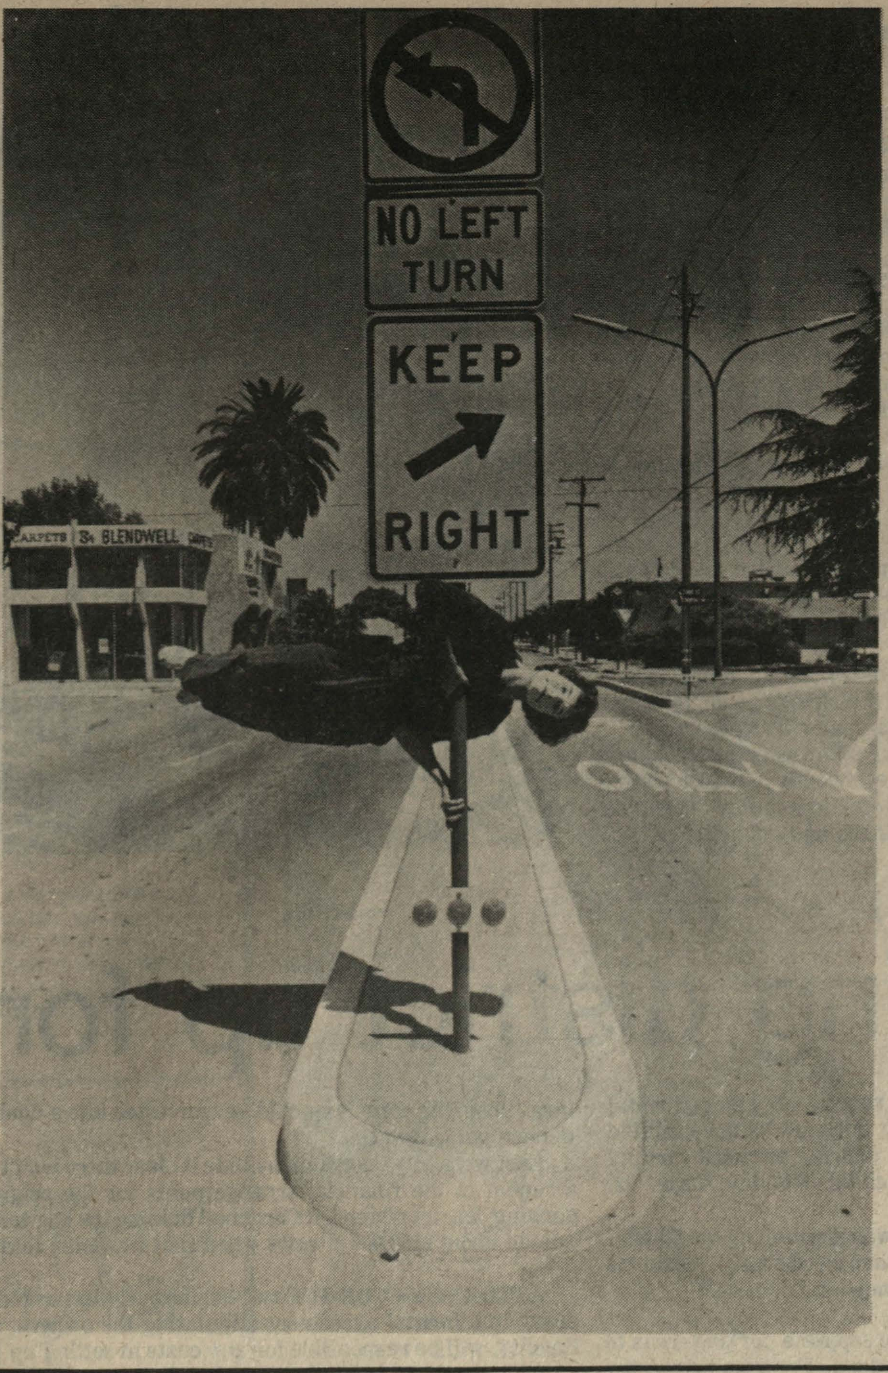
So there has been a crackdown generally, including in California, where tougher laws have been enacted to control criminals in the past couple of years, and more anti-crime legislation may be approved this year.

Of special interest, despite the probably decrease in crime, are stepped-up programs to deal with career criminals.

It remains a fact that repeat offenders cause the most problems for citizens and law enforcement agencies.

There was other data released by the FBI recently, and it showed how serious this problem really is.

For instance, of those imprisoned for burglary and released in 1972, 81 per cent were rearrested within four years.



Sign of the mimes

Adding a little body language to the signs at Campbell ave. near Third st. is Jeff Risk, local mime instructor. Those signs and islands were removed last week as work on the north loop street-Campbell ave. intersection continued. A much larger island will be installed along that stretch. THREE YEARS PROBATION FOR COUPLE

Wilfred and Elizabeth Bourassa, both 51, of 1131 Shamrock Drive, have been sentenced to three years probation for willfully attempting to evade their income tax for 1972.

Owners of B & B Painting Company, the Bourassas will be liable for the $2,419.96 in unpaid taxes, plus interest and penalties to be civilly determined for their 1970-4 tax years in addition to the sentence on the criminal charges.

U. S. District court Judge William A. Ingram conditioned probation upon the cooperation by the Bourassas with the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) in determining the tax liability.

According to the initial indictment, the total tax evaded for the four-year period was $8,386.25 but six of the eight counts in the indictment were dismissed at the request of the U. S. Attorney.

ASSAULT WITH A DEADLY CRUTCH

They were just making a telephone call at the local 7-11 store, the couple told police, when they were attacked by a man wielding a wooden crutch.

The 19-year-old couple said they were using the phone when an auto passed by and one of its occupants made an obscene gesture and shouted at them. On its next pass, the auto reportedly stopped and the young man walked over to question the passenger who had done the shouting and gesturing. As he drew near the car, the man inside rammed a crutch into the man's stomach and drove off.

Upon investigating the assault charge, the police discovered that the attacker and the attackee were involved in a dispute over the ownership of a 1968 Pontiac Firebird. The 21-year-old attacker said he owned it and the young man with the sore stomach felt he did.

At present, the Campbell police department are in possession of the impounded vehicle until ownership is proven.

TOOLS STOLEN VALUED AT $1500

A 29-year-old truck driver parked his pick-up truck at a truck-stop on Curtner and when he returned, found all his tools gone.

Stolen were: two tool boxes filled with tools and torque wrenches, and two drive drills for a total of $1,500.

The man said he had kept his tools in the back of his truck covered by a tarp for two years and had never had any trouble before.

Building boom slows

The building boom has slowed somewhat during the past two months, but total value of construction during the first seven months is still over twice the amount one year ago.

Through July $10.3 million in building permits had been issued compared to $4.7 million last year at this time.

Construction of single family homes made up the bulk of permits during June and July with 30 homes valued at $1.6 million.

Commercial development was second, with $357,265 in July alone. Biggest single project was the $279,505 building at 430 Darryl drive by Green Valley Enterprises.

In June the largest commercial project was the industrial building at 740 Camden ave. by Woolworth Construction valued at $142,611.

Since Jan. 1 a total of 99 building permits have been issued for new single family homes valued at $4.4 million.

If you haven't visited the BLACK KETTLE Restaurant as yet, let me tell you about it . . . Situated in the Factory, Campbell, it is simply charming w/warm beams & rustic woods & wrought iron chandeliers to give it an inviting country inn effect . . . their dinner menu features succulent cuisine (moderately priced) — Teriyaki Chicken Breasts $5.95; Alaskan King Crab Legs $8.25; Prime Rib & Lobster $11.95. They also serve BBQ Prime Rib Bones, Steamed Clams, Fr. Fried Zucchini & mouth watering desserts. Two bars serve great libations; they also serve lunch Mon.-Fri. & Sun. brunch 10-2:30. Entertainment Fri. & Sat. Stop by for a memorable dining experience!

Tho the disappearance of the orchards is imminent, the memories linger on at THE DRYING SHED Restaurant .. . . where you'll find memorabilia of the past adorning the walls — old kitchen utensils, rolling pins, enamel plates, jello molds, etc. . . . Lunch is served Mon.-Fri. Dinners 7 days. The Sun. Buffet Luncheon features Rst. Baron of Beef, BBQ Spare Ribs, Baked Chicken, Sugar cured Ham, Petrale of Sole, 4 vegs., 18 salads, homemade soup only $4.95 (Child $2.95). A $5.95 Prime Rib dinner w/glass of wine is served Mon. & Tues. A perfectly charming restaurant serving excellent cuisine.

The downstairs bunker lounge at the 94TH AERO SQUADRON is really "packing them in" lately since D.J. ROD GHISELLI spins platters in the disco every Tues.-Sat. nights. Attractive DEBRA DAWSON holds forth 4:30-8:30 Tues.-Fri. & also on Sun. nights. Friends of mine were the last to leave last Sat. night since they had such an enjoyable evening & you w/too if you stop by the 94TH AERO SQUADRON.

BOURBON STREET

Dining at BOURBON STREET restaurant is a "page right out of New Orleans" . . . located in the Old Mill Specialty Center, they serve authentic French Creole cuisine & famous New Orleans libations (Happy Hr. 4:30-7 p.m. w/half doz. oysters only 99 cents). Select from Louisiana Breast of Chicken (served w/olives, artichoke hearts, cr. sauce, white wine & a spec. "dirty" rice — delicious), BBQ'd Jumbo Shrimp, Filet de Veau ala Grappe, & tempting selections from the Oyster Bar. This superbly prepared cuisine is served in the delightful atmosphere that melds the echoes of the past w/the elan of the present. Live music plus Disco keeps everyone dancing &, believe me, it's "Mardi Gras" every night at BOURBON STREET.

A page right out of the 1930's is presented to you at CLEMENTINE'S RESTAURANT where there's always something new going on — watch for the new menu for exciting changes — Mgr. Roger Shilling w/be announcing them soon. Their bar/lounge is always busy & if you're a nostalgic buff, you can spend half the evening simply admiring the memorabilia on the walls & above the bar . . . the real name, for instance, of movie stars & VIP's — I'll bet you can't guess who they are?

I enjoyed a marvelous dinner at SENOR PEPE'S in Foster City recently & especially since it was on one of those warm evenings when we were able to dine on the charming outdoor patio deck "at the waters edge." . . .My friends thought it was just like a bit of old Mexico, perhaps in Acapulco, enjoying fine Mexican cuisine & marvelous libations. Do order the PEPE'S Pride (a double Margarita) which w/make your evening complete. Sun. Brunch is available 10-3 p.m. — Buenos Noches!

"Single Life Magazine" recently sent a reviewer to SIRLOIN AND BREW UNLIMITED. Let me quote a few lines which they published: "The steak, steaks & even larger steaks are really first rate. Really unique is the actual fact that the cheerful waiters & waitresses at SIRLOIN AND BREW UNLIMITED w/bring you all the wine you want. Their philosophy is quite simple. Give value that brings the customer back again & again. And it works." Married or single, that's good advice for diners-out.

Something new in pre-school

You've heard of preschool. Now there's a new program in the planning stages that involves pre-math pre-reading and problem-solving for local tots.

Campbell United Methodist Parents' Pre-School will start a unique new pre-kindergarten class in October to run in cooperation with other nursery schools in the area.

Emphasis will be on group and individual experiences in this special Tuesday class which will run from 12:15 to 2:45 weekly.

Children attending other schools are invited to join the group with a minimum amount of participation by parents and low tuition, says Director Nancy Tiffany.

For mroe information contact the school's membership chairman at 379-4339.

They want lights

Softball field is in a 'rut' charges league spokesman

A young Campbell man challenged the City Council and Parks Commission to a softball game last week. But it was his way to trying to illustrate what he termed the bad playing conditions at John D. Morgan Park.

Bob Hagg, and a few supporters in the audience, appeared to plead their case for a lighted softball field before the Parks and Recreation Commission.

"We're the only city without a lighted softball field in the county," Hagg declared.

A member of one of the 16 teams, and over 250 players, who used the rutted playing field this year, Hagg said the local adult league could have been much larger if the local facilities were better. (The league's field is not connected with the attractive Pony League field at the north entrance to the park).

Last year funding for those field improvements was given number one priority by the parks commission. But that rating has since been revised.

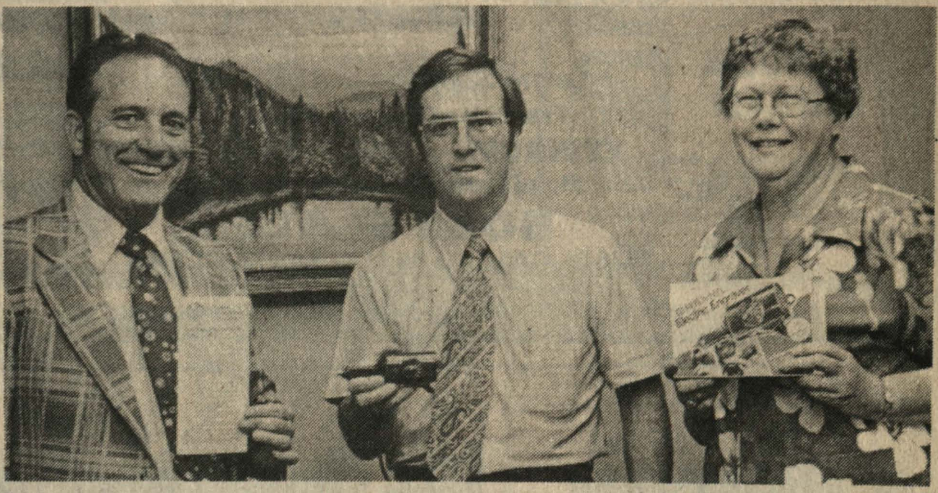
"We have an energy crisis," Commissioner Edith Morley told Hagg, "and the money's not available."

"The energy crisis won't last forever," Hagg countered.

Acting Chairman John Ashworth advised Hagg to bring the Commission an indication of the number of local people who want a lighted softball field.

Earlier, Hagg charged that several teams planned to move to other city recreation programs because they were dissatisfied with local facilities.

"Don't pack up your marbles and move on," Ashworth told the man, "Let the city know."



HELPING kick-off a new community service last week were, from left, Police Chief Don Burr, Jim Kinney of the Campbell Kiwanis Club and Regional Librarian Beverly Booth. Special engravers, donated by the local club, are now available at the library to be checked out by theft-conscious residents. In addition the club also donated 5,000 pamphlets on safeguarding your home against burglary to be distributed to local homes.

Kiwanis project

Aid in recovering stolen property on loan at library

If you have your stereo stolen in a burglary, chances are you'll never see it again. The chances, in fact, are almost nil, according to Campbell Police Chief Don Burr.

But a new program initiated here last week could change those dour statistics.

Using an electric engraver on loan from either the Campbell library or police department, residents can now mark their valuables so they can be returned if they're recovered. Right now stolen property can be easily returned if it's located near the site of the robbery. But most recovered valuables are found many miles, even many states, away.

By engraving your driver's license or California identification number on articles, you'll increase the odds for recovery twenty fold.

A big part in the new program was played by the Campbell Kiwanis Club who recently donated 10 engravers to the library to be checked out to patrons as well as 5,000 burglary prevention pamphlets to the Campbell Police Department.

Cluster homes on Hacienda

First reading was held last week on a zone change to allow construction of 22 cluster homes and 16 townhouses at 681 W. Hacienda ave. near the Capri drive intersection.

Second reading and final approval is set for August 22.

Ronald A. Woolworth and Coleman, Myers and Williams Construction plans to develop that 2.5 acre parcel which is now orchard land with single family housing.

Earlier, the Planning Commission unanimously recommended approval of the project.

In other business last week the City Council:

• Awarded the contract for the Industrial avenue storm drain to Pisano Brothers, Inc. for their low bid of $20,537.50, almost $3,000 under the engineer's estimate. Other bidders were Bilardi ($21,277), Coprista ($24,868.20) and Sepulveda ($26,925).

• Held a first reading on an amendment to the city municipal code which makes receipt of a business license contingent upon receiving permits through the police or fire department, where applicable.

• Delayed action on an amendment to the planned development (PD) zone to the next meeting because of a concern over its impact on the downtown business district (the entire downtown area, both commercial and residential is now zoned PD). The proposed amendment would streamline the now cumbersome application process for property owners planning building renovations and additions which cost under $25,000. Instead of the $75 fee and the minimum three-month waiting time, permits could be okayed by the Planning Director. The Council voiced concern over the commercial district being included in this change since it was intended to assist the homeowner. Planning Director Art Kee was directed to look into alternatives and report back.

• Held a first reading on a zone change and plans for a townhouse development at 202-206 W. Rincon ave. The zone change would be from medium density residential to planned development.

• Held a first reading on an annexation petition for property located at the northeast corner of the Westmont-Harriet ave. intersection. Pre-zoning was earlier designated as single family residential.

• Awarded the contract for a three-wheel turf truckster to Toro Pacific Distributors for $3,757.53. This was the only bid received from the four firms originally interested and $42 under the estimated cost.

It's Virgo's special time of the year

Aug. 20 through Aug. 26

ARIES (March 21-April 19): If you, Ari, are in the mood for romance (and you usually are) stay alert. Shy admirer may send weak signals. Pick them up. Week ideal for illusion and need to join hands, forces or whatever.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Credit crunch best handled by honesty. Interesting newcomer may come tippy-tapping onto your horizon. Keep dance pants handy. End of week you feel wasted away. What do you expect, Taurus, when you spend so much time in Margaritaville?

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Concerning relationship with dear one, compassion is key which unlocks door to understanding. Important goals can be achieved if you do your part. Just don't expect your part, Gem, to be a paltry fifty percent. Get the drift?

CANCER (June 21-July 22): No silent brooding allowed this week. Moonbaby, for you have too much to do. Work, play, dance, sing and by last day your cup bubbles all over the place. All things considered a happy (but rather messy) week.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Change looms and career-family matters take a turn. Accept new role gracefully. Love is a bridge which spans chasm separating you from dear one. Cross it. On last day, Leo, you can pitch outmoded ideas into dustbin.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Happy Birthday, Virgo! You are honest, shrewd, efficient and patient. In career matters there is precious little that escapes your careful scrutiny. Others may imply that you are aloof or perhaps even "cold". Not so. You are simply discriminating. You know your own worth and if others don't . . . well, that's their problem. September, March are memorable months in year ahead. As one door closes, another opens.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Don't waste time this week waiting for others to pat you on the back. Get on with business at hand and do it your way, by jing. You have the right to be different. You have the right to be you. Before week is over, Old Dan Cupid seeks you out, Libra. Don't hide.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): This week can be one of most important of entire summer. In spite of August heat, your creative talent surges. Trap new ideas. Nail them down on paper before they fly away. Dreams highlighted. Don't make riddle out of answer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Put original ideas into motion, Saj, and don't fuss and stew about how others may react. You can take giant step forward. Simon says. Olga says. Jupiter says. Now get cracking!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You've plowed many a straight and narrow furrow, Cap, but this week you should relax and slacken your pace. Let the fields of your mind lie fallow. Fling your bones onto a hammock and do some creative dreaming. Week gently swings to a close.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Demands and challenges made this week, Aquari, and you'll need lots of old-fashioned fortitude just to muddle through. Concerning secret plans . . . pretend you're the sphinx. Week which began with a bang is very apt to end with a whimper. Sorry.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Questions will be asked. One who probes should be given short shrift. You may be a fish, Pisces, but even fish can drown in a sea of their own words. I repeat ancient advice: Always tell the truth, but don't always be telling it.

Interstate fire agreement

Governor Edmund Brown, Jr., has signed a mutual aid pact among California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada and Idaho that will allow each state to help the others fight fires.

The Interstate Compact for Fire Protection Assistance allows the five states to share fire fighters, equipment and other services when requested.

Even with the outbreak of fires in California recently, the state could not legally receive firefighting aid from other states. Under the new aid pact, each state will be reimbursed for all expenses incurred while fighting fires in other states.

Nursing home violations

State Health Department reports that 56 major citations have been issued to nursing homes after recent inspections of 62 nursing homes.

According to Ray Procunier, Chief deputy director of the department, the citations could net up to $116,000 in fines. Procunier added that the department has initiated the revocation of nursing home licenses for two facilities in Berkeley and Visalia.

Procunier said several critically ill patients were moved from the Visalia facility and all the patients were moved from the Shattuck-Carleton Hospital in Berkeley due to "imminent danger to health and safety."

He added that the inspections took place in Fresno, Berkeley, Santa Ana, Sacramento and San Jose.

"Because of impressive performance achieved in these five regions, hopefully at some future date we will be able to assign teams to three other regions — Los Angeles, San Diego and Santa Rosa," said Procunier.

Laetrile legalization

State Senator Bill Campbell, R-Whittier, has commended the Board of Medical Quality Assurance for supporting the legalization of laetrile. At the same time, however, Campbell challenged the board's support of an amendment to SB 245, which would legalize the controversial drug, that would allow laetrile to be sold over the counter.

"As the board stated in its testimony, the protection of the public through informed consent is crucial," Campbell explained. "By making laetrile available over the counter, we would lose that valuable provision which insures that cancer victims are as knowledgeable about laetrile and other therapies as possible."

Death penalty petitions

The Citizens for an Effective Death Penalty, headed by Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke and Senator John Briggs, R-Fullerton, will launch a petition drive this month to place a strong death penalty measure on the June ballot, regardless of the outcome of a legislative override vote of Gov. Brown's recent death penalty veto, Briggs announced.

Speaking from his Capitol office, Briggs said the legislation currently being considered is probably unconstitutional, and that an override probably would be a useless effort to get a tough death penalty on the books in California.

Briggs said the committee expects to receive nearly three times the necessary 300,000 signatures needed to have the new measure placed on the ballot in June.

Briggs assesses governor's race

Briggs also had some predictions about his gubernatorial campaign, forecasting Attorney General Evelle Younger will drop out of the race before filing his candidacy, and that Los Angeles Police Chief Ed Davis will also pull his hat out of the ring before too long.

Among the candidates left, he said Fresno Assemblyman Ken Maddy is too liberal, and San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson will not get his campaign past the noise-making stages.

"I'm way ahead of them," he said. "I've gotten over a million dollars worth of publicity on the homosexual issue alone."

Unitary tax overhaul

The Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee will be hearing a bill Aug. 17 that may chip away one disincentive block for new businesses in California

A bill to overhaul the state's unitary tax for multi-national business, (AB 1266), has gained the sponsorship of five Democrats and five Republicans.

Although Gov. Brown has not decided whether or not to support the bill due to concern over its total revenue-generating impact upon California, the governor has been wooing Japanese auto makers recently to locate new plants in the Golden State.

The Japanese resentment to the unitary tax has already turned Brown's support for the tax into noncommittal silence regarding a need for an overhaul.

Under the unitary tax, the state assesses corporate taxes by computing its California operations as a percentage of its total worldwide earnings. Most states consider only instate operations.

Noise pollution

Quiet! A proposed ordinance to allow local governments the framework to establish control over harmful noises has been forwarded to all local government municipalities in the state by the Department of Health this week. Required by the State Health and Safety Code, the 52-page document was prepared by an acoustical consulting firm.

Special education demonstration scheduled

The California Association for the Retarded has announced it will be holding a demonstration at the offices of Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles and Governor Edmund Brown, Jr., Aug. 8.

An attorney for the association, F. Burns Vick, Jr., told reporters that concerned parents and children "with special needs" will be participating in the demonstration slated to begin at 10 a.m. Aug. 8. Vick said Riles and the Department of Finance have a written agreement for the increased funding of special education programs for the retarded in California.

However, the association protests that this agreement does not include funding for immediate implementation, according to Vick.

The agreement would amend AB1250, which extends the Master Plan for Special Education statewide, to become effective on July 1, 1978 instead of Jan. 1, 1978.

Health cost control

Assemblyman Barry Keene, chairman of the Assembly Health Committee and the author of major hospital cost control legislation, has told U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano, Jr., that both the U.S. and California need hospital cost controls.

In a letter to Califano, Keene said the U.S. Congress should pass legislation to place limits on hospital cost increases.

"At the same time, Congress should allow states such as California to develop their own mechanisms to deal with local aspects of the problem," Keene wrote.

Keene, who authored AB 1156 which would establish a public utilities-type commission to set hospital costs, added that California hospital costs are increasing at 20 per cent.

Wilderness area hearings

The Resources Agency will be holding a public hearing Aug. 17 in San Francisco to gather public opinion on setting aside state-owned roadless lands as wilderness areas.

The lands under consideration, according to the agency, include state parks, recreation areas, ecological reserves and wildlife areas.

These hearings have been scheduled to provide an opportunity for the public to take part in our planning processes," said Secretary Huey Johnson. "We hope to hear from backpackers, campers, off-road vehicle users and others who may have views on creation of these new wilderness areas."

Homosexual teachers bill

Attorney General Evelle J. Younger predicted Constitutional problems for the controversial "homosexual teachers" bill, (SB 1253), introduced by Sen. John Briggs, R-Fullerton.

"While I think the senator has his own reasons and motives for introducing the legislation," said Younger, "there probably are serious Constitutional problems with any law that stops an individual from doing anything solely on the grounds that individual is homosexual. Such a law would have to address itself to conduct before the courts would uphold it."

Both Briggs and Younger are seeking the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

Fire warnings for September

Although the hundreds of fires in Northern California are gradually being brought under control, the state's top forestry official says September will be the most dangerous month for forest fires.

"We might get by," added Moran. "If we get those winds though, the situation could get bad. The U.S. Department of Fire Services might have to close all national forests and the governor would have to declare a state of emergency."

Last year August rains reprieved California's similarly drought-parched forests, but Moran isn't making any predictions for this year.

Celebrate the End of Summer with A Fall Fiesta 'Round the Barbecue

Summer's end shouldn't signal the end of the barbecue season. Why not welcome in the new season with a robust backyard barbecue done the Oktoberfest way! Hearty foods sizzling over a charcoal fire match peaked appetites that grow in the fresh outdoors. While the fire builds to the perfect temperature, friends can join in a rousing round of touchball.

A sizzling Sausage Cassoulet can be easily prepared on the grill. Hearty fare — all spicy and bubbling — it's sure to warm a chilly fellow! The sausages get grilled close to the coals while the beans cook in a heavy pot. Choose a selection of Italian, Polish and German sausages for variety. When they're crispy and brown, add the sausage to the bean pot. The flavor of the charcoal will permeate into the sausage to give a real old-fashioned smoky flavor to the beans.

Sauerkraut — a classic food on barbecue menus — provides a tangy flavor contrast to the cassoulet in Pimento-Pepper Kraut Slaw. The piquant flavors of pimento, green pepper mix with the kraut and are blended beautifully by the seasoned mayonnaise dressing. For the best flavor harmony, chill the slaw thoroughly before serving.

Chillier days call for a good hot fire. Always stack the briquets in a pyramid before you light. This will give plenty of ventilation to feed a hungry fire. For starters, use a charcoal lighter. They come in several forms, these days. The more common, liquid and wax, work well for lighting — especially if you let the fluid soak into the briquets for a minute before striking the match. Newer solid fuel packs can be placed directly into the coals and lit just the way they are. The coffee can is one of the most basic of all lighters and works equally as well. Remove the top and bottom lids from the can. Then pile the briquets into the can and spread the starter in with the briquets. When coals are grey, lift the can and let coals fall into grill.

Once the fire is going, allow 20-40 minutes before cooking begins. This will let the coals reach their hottest, peak temperature. An accurate test is to use your eye — look for a grey-ash color by day and glowing red by night. On colder, autumn days, allow a few more briquets for cooking. Weather conditions and wind chills can vary the temperature of briquets. In general, briquets should extend an inch beyond the edge of food for maximum flavor.

Prepared grillers know that having the right utensils on hand can make a novice look like a pro. Long handled tongs and forks are a must for turning foods on the grill. Another tip — line the grill with heavy-duty aluminum foil for easier clean-up. A foil drip pan under the sausage will also help avoid flare-ups. Windy days call for a grill with a hood around the back. Not only can the top be used as a shelf, but the shield will keep the wind off the fire.

Mixed Sausage Cassoulet

1 package (1 pound) Great Northern beans
4 slices bacon
1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
1 clove garlic, minced
½ teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1 bay leaf
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
1 can (28 ounces) whole tomatoes
¼ cup dry red wine
2 teaspoons salt
1 pound sweet Italian sausage links
1 lb. pork sausage rope
1 pound kielbasa or Polish sausage ring

Pick over beans and rinse. Cover with 6 cups water in large kettle. Bring to boil. Cover. Simmer 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Let stand 1 hour. Return to boil; cook beans on low heat until just tender, stirring occasionally, about 1 hour. Drain. (Beans can be cooked ahead.)

Set cast-iron pot on grill rack 6 inches above hot coals; add bacon; fry until crisp. Remove to piece of foil. Add onion and garlic to bacon drippings in pot. Cook until tender, stirring often. Add beans, thyme, bay leaf, cloves, tomatoes, wine and salt. Cover. Simmer 1 hour over low coals, stirring often. Meanwhile, set large skillet on grill rack with ¼-inch water; add Italian and pork sausages and heat to boil. Cover and cook 5 minutes to remove excess fat. Pierce sausages with fork. Drain. Place sausages and kielbasa directly on grill rack. Grill until well done, turning frequently. Slice and add to beans. Continue to cook beans 15 minutes more until well flavored by sausages. Crumble reserved bacon and add to cassoulet. Taste and add more salt, if needed. Makes 12 servings.

Pimento-Pepper Kraut Slaw
(Makes 12 servings)

4 cups drained sauerkraut, chopped (about 32 ounces)
1 cup chopped green pepper
2 cans or jars (2 ounces each) pimentos, drained and cut in strips
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
2 teaspoons Worcestershire
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Chill. Serve with Mixed Sausage Cassoulet.†

Rickey saves his gambits for the end games of chess

By STEVE RUTLEDGE

"CHESS HAS A charm you don't find anywhere else in life," says Campbell writer Robert Richey, author of "Blitz Chess Puzzles."

Richey, of 1341 Patio drive, has been playing chess for 42 years, published his first book last summer by himself, and is working on a second.

"Unless the publishers know who you are, they won't touch you," he explained.

A traffic engineer for the county, Richey felt most of the books written about chess were too advanced for the novice player so, seeing a void, he set about to fill it.

"Most chess books are like going to college without any high school," he said. "My book gives the idea of basic strategy and helps the beginner put together moves."

TO BECOME A well-rounded chess player takes more than book learning, the local man noted. But most people don't have or take the time to become really good.

"First you get the beginner's book, Richey advises. Then set aside a certain amount of time every day to practice. "Next you join a chess club where you can be exposed to players of all levels."

Surrounded by his five chess boards, Richey spends many hours formulating an idea for a chess problem and then developing that problem so that everything falls precisely into place.

Richey's second book will include two and three move problems as did his first book, but will also contain some four move puzzles.

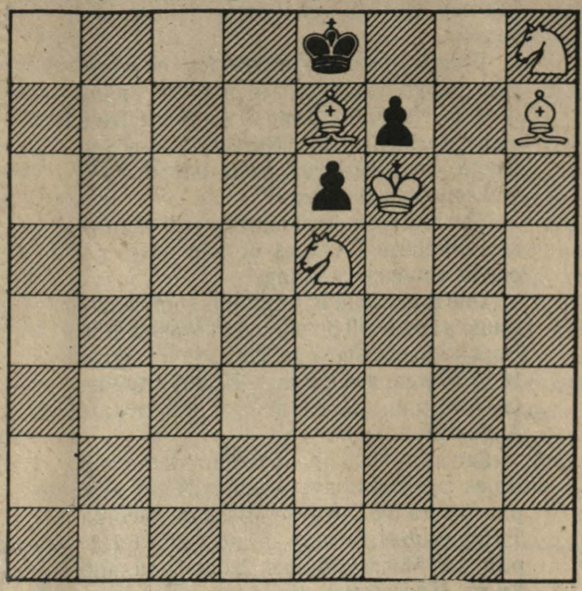
He points out that while his problems are contrived and not "actual" end-game situations as in many books, they are positions that could happen in a real game.

"YOU MAKE THE other guy do what you want him to do," Richey said. "You can give away something (a chess piece) and actually create a weakness."

Many of the puzzles in Richey's book are geared to the end game where the "coup de grace" is close at hand but the novice may not know how to administer the final blow. If the opposing player doesn't have a move, the game could end in a draw or stalemate.

RICHEY, WHO WAS a stress analyst for the Apollo project from 1964-67 and worked on the command module that landed on the moon, has sold some of his books locally. He has also donated some of them to tournaments to be given away as prizes.

After 42 years of playing, the San Jose Chess Club member still enjoys the game.



A GOOD example of one of Richey's "give a little to gain a lot" puzzles with Black unable to move and it's Whites' move. The object is mate in two moves for white.

Black has no move initially. The Bishop at E7 and the Knight at E5 can't move. The white King is protecting the Bishop. The Bishop at H7 can be sacrificed at G6 or F5 but the Knight at H8 cannot checkmate. The correct first move is Knight to G6. Pawn takes Knight. Bishop takes pawn — MATE.

Named to study group

Three community members will be appointed to round out a nine-member historic preservation committee being set up by the Campbell City Council.

Those interested in serving should contact the City Manager's office at 378-8141 weekdays.

Last Monday Councilmen Dean Chamberlin and Norm Paul were named to committee posts along with Chairman Jeanette Watson and Barbara Conant of the Civic Improvement Commission and Commissioners Don Hebard and George Vierhus of the Planning Commission.

Chamberlin, plus one representative of the two commissions, will act as a screening committee for community members.

Purpose of the group is to study ways to preserve local landmarks and points of historic interest. The group will act in an advisory capacity to the City Council and other city commissions.

Dyn-o-mites roll to pair of PAL titles

By JULIE SLY

COACH FRAN Angelson's Bobcats, although lacking the services of ace pitcher Sue Kensill, pulled together behind hard-throwing Cindy Meyer and became champions of the San Jose PAL-GAL Softball League's Senior "A" Division by defeating coach John Bruno's Red Sox in a best of three play-off at PAL Stadium.

Kensill, who during the regular season had pitched seven shut-outs in eight league games and amazingly allowed only one earned run, was unable to pitch because of an injured finger. But Meyer filled in excellently for Kensill and claimed both of the Bobcats' victories.

Meyer tossed a brilliant two-hitter as the Bobcats shut-out the Red Sox 1-0 in their first encounter.

In their second meeting, the Red Sox scored a narrow 4-3 victory behind the pitching of Sheila Langrock, who also went two for two at the plate.

Annette Blandford pitched for the Bobcats, allowing only four hits. Meyer and Pam Reinoehl led the offensive attack, each going two for three.

In the deciding game, the combination of a five-hitter by Meyer and many Red Sox errors led the Bobcats to a final 4-2 championship victory. Blandford was the leader at the plate, going two for three, and Kensill came on to play good defensively at first base.

THE ROADRUNNERS, champions of the Major Westside Division, were crowned champions of the entire Major Division, by defeating the Major Eastside champion Hawks in two consecutive playoff games.

Behind the pitching of Lorraine Mullinix and the hitting of Lesley Hayes and Melody Stamps, the Roadrunners dominated the Hawks 12-4 in their first game.

Hayes went four for four at the plate while Stamps chipped in with a triple to lead the Roadrunners offensively. Leftfielder Linda Bischoff, rightfielder Jeanell Peterson and buckshort Chris Hardcastle showed good defensive work.

Mullinix was the winning pitcher in the second game as the Roadrunners downed the Hawks 11-9 to capture first place laurels. Laura Romesberg was a perfect four for four with the bat for her team. Stamps once again pounded a triple.

Sharon Noble also helped the Roadrunners cause by making seven of the team's 21 put outs, playing an excellent second base.

Coach Dale Hayes' Roadrunners climaxed an outstanding season with the victory. The Roadrunners compiled a 19-2 season record. His winning lineup consisted of Noble at second, Romesberg at third, Hayes at chatcher, Cathy Grover at first, Stamps at shortstop, Hardcastle at backshort, Mullinix at pitcher, Peterson in right, Donna Hines in center, Bischoff in left and reserves Cindy Peterson and Judy Dunn.

IN THE PAL-GAL Minor League play-offs, the Dyn-o-mites, led by the consistent pitching of Robyn Grigsby, captured first place laurels by defeating the Hotshots in two straight games.

Grigsby, fanning 11 and giving up only one walk, helped the Dyn-o-mites defeat the Hotshots 11-6 in the first play-off game. She came back to down the Hotshots again 8-7, striking out nine. The Hotshots' Becky Rogers homered for her team in the losing cause.

The Dyn-o-mites also captured first place laurels in the annual Vallejo Tournament, scoring four straight wins to capture the title.

The Dyn-o-mites first scored a 30-1 blasting of the Santa Clara Bears, pounding out 19 hits. Grigsby threw another excellent one-hitter, striking out nine. Catcher Missi Alongi smacked two doubles and third baseperson Joan Hammel chipped in with one.

In their second game, Frances Teano, a Hotshots' player playing for the Dyn-o-mites, threw a two-hitter as the Dyn-o-mites defeated the Benecia Apaches 12-2. The Dyn-o-mites pounded out 23 hits in a powerful offensive attack.

Grigsby came back to pitch the Dyn-o-mites to a third win over Vallerga Plumbing 10-7. Hammel hit a double and Mary Quinn, a minor league player from the Calico Kittens, smacked a triple.

Finally, the Dyn-o-mites came back to defeat the Vallerga team once more 26-11 to win the Vallejo title. Teano pitched the win for the Dyn-o-mites once again.

She was backed up with a strong offensive attack. Quinn had a perfect five for five outing and Hammel came through with two doubles, knocking in two run.

Grigsby, with outstanding performances on the mound and playing great defense at shortstop won the honor of most valuable player in the Vallejo Tournament.

Christmas at Muni and Missions play St. Nick

IT'S CHRISTMAS in August at San Jose's Municipal Stadium this week. And it will be Joe Gagliardi and his San Jose Missions playing Santa Claus.

Smart youngsters, 16 and under, can clean up this week when the Missions host Tacoma in a four day, five game series at Muni.

Young people can spend Sunday afternoon flying kites in Oakland A's jackets if they attend Triple-A baseball games this week.

The Missions will meet Tacoma in the second to last homestand of their inaugural season and will offer fans special promotions in the Wednesday through Saturday series.

The Missions, after taking a day off Tuesday, meet Tacoma in a 6 p.m. doubleheader on Wednesday when the first 500 kids will receive Oakland A's jackets.

A night later the two clubs will battle it out in a 7:30 p.m. game on Advertiser's Night. Tickets are available at all Mission advertiser locations.

When the two clubs lock horns on Friday at 7:30 p.m., it will be KXRX-KEZR Night.

Saturday will be Lockheed Fan Appreciation Night when San Jose and Tacoma meet at 7:30 p.m. There will also be 1,000 kites given away.

After the Saturday night game the Missions will head north to start a six game series in Spokane. The Missions will meet Spokane in a 6:30 p.m. double-header on Sunday and the two clubs will play single games the next four days at 7:45 p.m.

From there it's off to Tacoma for five games in as many days before returning home on Thursday, September 1, to start the final series of the season against Hawaii.

All 11 games in the two Washington cities will be broadcast in the San Jose area over KX-RX radio (1500).

Spartan gridders prep for start of season

APPROXIMATELY 90 ahtletes are scheduled to report to Spartan Stadium at San Jose State University Wednesday evening (Aug. 17th) to begin preparations for the 1977 college football season.

A full and busy slate will await the '77 SJSU gridders for fall workouts since the season opener at Utah State is less than a month away.

The team reports on Wednesday with two-a-day drills to begin on Friday (Aug. 19) in shorts and continue through Monday (Aug. 22) before donning the pads for contact work on Tuesday (Aug. 23), in accordance with NCAA rules. Two-a-day drills will continue in pads up until the start of fall classes.

The highlight of the preseason schedule is a controlled scrimmage for the public on Friday, Sept. 2.

Stiles is calling 1977 a "rebuilding year" with hopes of defending the PCAA title with youth and hard work.

Among the Spartans bidding for post season all-star honors are Gerald Small and Vic Rakshani. Small was honorable mention All-America last year and Rakshani was named to the Freshman All-America squad.

Former Leland high school star Jim Miller will vie for the starting quarterback.

Modified pilot Christian joins Mini - Stock circuit

But what does Christian do when he's not racing his super modified at the Speedway — he's racing a super sedan at Fremont!

That's right, Christian has joined the ranks of the Mini-Stock Racing Association and each Thursday evening he slides his VW powered machine in the Fremont dirt.

Christian has experienced anything but success at Fremont after getting off to a late start this season. He was pulled from the track one week with an oil leak and in his next try he lost a rod and his engine caught fire. He also missed a week of racing when he was readying his modified for the Johnny Key Memorial.

"The action is just as fast as the super modifieds," admitted Christian when asked what he thought of mini-stock racing. "And these cars aren't slow!"

Dean Nelson of Campbell is currently on top of the point list in the super sedan class at Fremont with Doc Theroux of Los Gatos second, Tres Gurney third, Vern Williams of San Jose fourth and Jack Drinkard of Los Gatos fifth. All drive VW powered machines.

Williams won the August 4 main in the division with Theroux second, Drinkard third, Craig Dykkeston fourth and Gurney fifth.

Gurney took the trophy dash with Theroux second, Drinkard third and Jim Fernandez fourth in a Datsun powered racer.

There is also competition in A, B and C mini-stock sedans in the MSRA at Fremont.

Kirk Nielson of San Jose leads the A-Sedan standings in his Toyota with Dick Ryan second in his Datsun, Lee Shurtleff of Milpitas third in a Datsun, Tom Johnson of San Jose fourth in a Toyota and Randy Meeks of Milpitas fifth in a Datsun.

Nielson won the most recent main with Meeks second, Ryan third, Shurtleff fourth and Johnson fifth and Shurtleff took the trophy dash with Nielson second, Ryan third and Johnson fourth.

Bill Martin of Saratoga tops the B-sedan point parade with Frank Schirado second, Frank Rauch of San Jose third, Jack VanWettering of San Jose fourth and Rich Sunseri of San Jose fifth.

Martin won both the main event and the trophy dash in the division just for Volkswagens in the most recent MSRA activity.

VanWettering was second in the main with Rauch third, Schirado fourth and Scotty Shelly fifth. Shelly was second in the trophy dash with Al Arneson third and Sunseri fourth.

The same night, Mike Shelly rolled to a win in the C-sedan main with Pat Gurney of San Jose second, Jake Noreaga of San Jose third and Ken Atkinson fourth.

Racing continues weekly each Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Fremont Raceway, qualifying at 7:30 p.m.

'Birds wrap-up trip

THE REMAINDER of the San Jose Sunbirds' eastern road trip can be heard over channel 12A of Gill Cable TV.

The cablecasts will feature San Jose's series with the play-off contending St. Louis Hummers. Handling the broadcasts will be Sunbird announcer Lee Hammer.

The Sunbirds will play the Pat Guenzler-led Hummers Thursday through Sunday. The Sunbirds and Hummers will play single games on Thursday and Sunday and doubleheaders on Friday and Saturday. Starting times all four nights will be 5:15 p.m.

Thorobred World Series in San Jose

FOR THE second consecutive year San Jose will host the Thorobred World Series for 17-20 year olds on August 18-22 at San Jose Municipal Stadium.

The series was originally slated for Baltimore, Maryland, this year but due to administrative problems regarding player eligibility of Eastern teams a switch was necessary.

Directors of Thorobred Baseball decided to switch back to San Jose since the tourney was so well received here last season.

Five teams will compete for the world title. Currently tournaments are being held in Nashville, Tenn. (Southern Division), Springfiled, Ill. (Northern), and San Diego, CA. (Western), Long Island, N.Y. will represent the East.

The host team, defending world champion Gagliardi Brothers of San Jose, receives automatic seeding.

Due to scheduling problems some early round games will be played at Washington Park in Santa Clara on Thursday, August 18 (5:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.), Friday, August 19 (5:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.), and Saturday, August 20, at 8 p.m.

San Jose Municipal Stadium dates and times are Saturday, August 20, at 4:30 p.m.before the San Jose Missions-Tacoma Twins contest, Sunday, August 21, at 7:30 p.m. and Monday, August 22, at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m., if necessary.

As a special bonus ticketholders for the Aug. 20 game will also get to see the Missions-Twins Pacific Coast League game for no additional charge.

Shortened season gives Sargent super modified title

WHEN THE ammouncement came through that the 1977 super modified racing season would come to a close on September 3 because of the sale of the San Jose Speedway, Mike Sargent of San Jose must have had mixed emotions.

It had to bring a lump to his throat to think that the track where his father had bumped wheels on his way to the state championship back in the 50's, the track loaded with so much history, would be demolished.

But he also had to be a bit happy, too. The early end of the season has already clinched for him the 1977 NASCAR super modified point championship!

Sargent's 779 points give him a substantial lead over second place Howard Kaeding of Campbell. The veteran Kaeding holds the runner-up spot with 578 points.

Sargeant is also the point leader in the state point parade. Only second place Nick Ringo (725) has a chance to catch Sargent in the state race, sitting 54 points behind him. Ringo is the leader at the Madera Speedway with 190 points and is third in San Jose at 535. Kaeding is third in the state with his 578 points.

CHUCK CHRISTIAN holds fourth in the point standings in San Jose and the state with 553. Earle Stanton is fifth at 501 with Tom Cox sixth at 416, Pat Rose seventh at 379, Danny O'Neill, after a victory in the Johnny Key 150, eighth at 359, Art McCarthy ninth at 350, Jack Epperson of Milpitas 10th at 346, Dana Stahl 11th at 338 and Rob Carlotto 12th at 331.

The modifieds will roll in the Coors 100 lap open competition race on Saturday, Aug. 20, with warm-ups at 5:30 p.m., qualifying at 6:30 p.m. and racing at 8:15 p.m.

The following week the modifieds will run in a regular program with double points up for grabs and on Sept. 3 a final Coors 100 will be run to close out the season.

Kaeding is the open competition point leader at 386, sitting 100 points ahead of Jerry Thompson at 286. O'Neill is third at 268 with Epperson fourth at 226, Bob Cetti fifth at 222, Ringo sixth at 214, Christian seventh at 210, Earl Beach eighth at 202, Pat Holton ninth at 198, Jerry Freitas 10th at 190 and Everett Edlund 11th at 188.

Anderson guns for strong stock finish

THERE'S NO TELLING what can happen when the stock cars are spinning around the oval at the San Jose Speedway with double points as the prize.

And no one knows that better than Vern Anderson of Campbell. That's why he's hoping for an extra special performance on August 27 so that he can wrap up his first ever San Jose point title.

Anderson went into the second-to-last point event of the season at the Speedway trailing Dave Byrd by just four points in the standings.

Byrd was leading the pack with 390 points going into last Saturday's late model sportsman race and Anderson was a very close second at 386.

C-M Tigers capture TOC championship

IT TOOK A DAY longer than they would have liked, but the Campbell-Moreland Pony League Tigers finally captured the Tournament of Champions title last Wednesday with a 5-1 nod over the Santa Teresa American Cubs.

One day earlier, the Cubs had forced the Tigers into the deciding game by edging the hosts 7-6, with the help of seven Tiger errors. It was the Tigers' lone loss after three victories in the six team, double elimination tourney.

Bengal ace Mitch Morris concluded a brilliant Pony League career by stifling the Cub bats on five hits in the finale. He struck out eight and walked only one.

His teammates chalked up all the runs he needed in the top of the second, bolting to a 2-0 edge.

Matt Lawrence struck out to start the assault but reached first when the third strike eluded the catcher. Bill Roberts boomed a double to put runners on second and third with nobody down.

A safety squeeze by Scott Allen plated Lawrence with the first score, and Roberts daringly raced home on Scott Freear's pop up to short right field for the second.

SANTA TERESA American sliced the margin to 2-1 in the sixth on a double and a single, but right fielder Curt Cabaniss gunned down a Cub runner trying to take second after his run-scoring single to douse the Cub threat.

The locals then put the verdict away with three tallies in the seventh. Morris and Garth Setaguchi contributed doubles and an ST outfielder dropped a fly to nurse the uprising.

The Tigers concluded their campaign with a 25-11 ledger, including a 10-2 mark in the league play-offs and the TOC.

Team members include Cabaniss, Don Acosta, Steve Puls, Keith Furuya, Dave Herrick, Jim Blehm, Freear, Allen, Roberts, Lawrence, Morris, Setaguchi, Jim Healy and Tim Davey. Manager Bill Allen and coaches Max Nelson and Bill Roberts directed the club.

Sign-ups for the circuit's annual Winter League program are set for Saturday, Sept. 3, at the John D. Morgan Park clubhouse. All players planning to play Pony League ball next season are invited to participate in the Winter League, which is designed to familiarize Little League graduates with the larger diamond and to give Pony League returnees additional experience.

Shamrocks set for 2nd Battle of Sexes tonight

THE CAMPBELL Shamrocks, who this Sunday will have played 10 games in 10 days, coverage at Quito Little League park tonight for a 6 p.m. encounter with the PAL Redskins, one of the area's top girl softball teams.

In this annual Battle of the Sexes, the Redskins will be seeking revenge for last Saturday's 7-6 defeat at the hands of the boys at PAL Stadium.

Donations from tonight's game will benefit the Kevin Allison Aplastic Anemia Research Fund.

In that particular affair, a strong plate comeback gave the girls a lead they shouldn't have lost. However, a dropped fly in short centerfield in the sixth gave the Shamrocks two important runs, then catcher Mike Walsh put the game on ice with a key two-run double.

Sharing the pitching for the boys were Bobby Straight, Eric Crawford and Dominic Costantino.

The Shamrocks, an independent team of 13 year old boys from the Campbell-Moreland Pony League, also added four more baseball wins the past week over other Pony 13-year-old teams: 14-2 over Los Gatos, 1-0 over Santa Clara, 8-4 over Watsonville and 11-2 over Lafayette.

Against Los Gatos, Eddie Rodriguez was the winning pitcher and his teammates blasted 10 hits including three by third baseman John Murphy.

One of the best played games of the season took place Saturday at Santa Clara's Vierra Field when the Shamrocks shut-out the hosts 1-0, behind the fine pitching of Richard Alvarez and Paul Sargis, who relinquished a paltry four hits between them.

CAMPBELL SCORED the only run of the game in the fourth inning when Straight walked, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch. Then Alvarez walked and Straight scooted home when the Santa Clara catcher tossed the ball into center field as Alvarez stole second.

Straight owned the defensive sixth inning, as he turned in three fielding gems — one a high chopper which he short-hopped, another to his far left in front of second base, and the third from the hole. Alvarez hurled the first four frames with Sargis finishing up.

Behind the five inning, two-hit pitching of John Imhoff, the Shamrocks whipped Watsonville in the first game of a Sunday doubleheader. In the second game, Murphy, Rodriguez and Scott Freear shared the pitching during a Lafayette rout.

The Shamrocks will wind up a 27-game schedule (including 5 softball contests) with two weekend games at Morgan Park.

Entry list swelling for Destruction Derby

THE DRIVER list for the annual Destruction Derby at the Santa Clara County Fair in San Jose on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 21, passed the 70 mark early this week to indicate a total of about 135 competitors for the $1,200 in prize money.

Two of more women drivers have indicated they will join the field of crash derby veterans, race drivers, truckers and sports car enthusiasts in the two-and-half-hour event where the driver of the last car running picks up $600.

Action is in 15-minute periods with the trained officials transferring best contenders from heats into a final session for 30 machines, crashing until just one is still moving. Officials are alert to drivers who do not join the crashing at all times and penalty points are noted and considered in transfers.

Pit gates open at 9 a.m. All machines, including those pre-registered, must be inside and ready for competition at 1 p.m. Late arrivals are not allowed to compete, about 40 turned back last year.

Life guard games at Sacto

A TEAM of seven lifeguards represented the San Jose Parks and Recreation Department last weekend at the sixth annual California Lifeguards Games in Sacramento.

Members of the San Jose seven-man team, selected from the over 200 lifeguards who staff 19 local pools as part of the "Swim to Live" program, include Steve Martin (Hoover), Mike Lesyna (Leland), Steve Austin (Del Mar), James Clegg (Burnett), Jeff Coffin (Burnett), Ted Ujifusa (Burnett) and Mark Fuchs (Castillero).

The event is sponsored by the Red Cross and California Lifeguard Association, bringing together lifeguards from all of Northern California and stressing competition with basic rescue and water safety skills.

A golden day for long time Campbellites

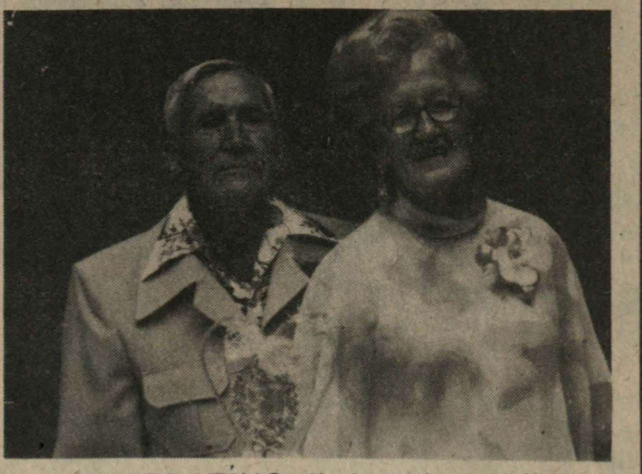
That "Golden" day came for Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Short as they recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a dinner dance at Nordahl Hall.

The affair was hosted by Mrs. Tom Nicholls and John Short (the daughter and son) and their spouses.

The Shorts, of 285 California st., were married in Los Angeles and have resided in Campbell since 1944.

Mrs. Short worked for Bettencourt Markets for many years, and Mr. Short is retired from his business in Palo Alto.

Attending the dinner dance were their six grandchildren: Robert Nicholls, Roseburg, Ore.; Ken and Craig Nicholls, San Jose; Julie and David Short, Littleton, Colo.; Debbie Holeman, Fort Bragg, N.C., and 120 other guests from Florida, Oregon, Colorado, Idaho, Southern California, as well as locally.



CELEBRATING their 50th wedding anniversary at a dinner dance held in their honor are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. Short.

Labor Day weekend campsites going fast

Anyone who intends to camp in a state park or beach over the Labor Day weekend should make a reservation within the next week. State Parks and Recreation Director Herbert Rhodes has warned.

"Failure to get an early reservation could mean missing the chance to camp on the long weekend," Rhodes said.

State park campsite reservations may be made at any of the many Ticketron outlets in California. The location of the nearest Ticketron outlet may be obtained by phoning in San Francisco, (415) 788-2828.

Rhodes said nearly all state park units are still open to the public, and most are offering full park services in spite of the continuing drought and the extreme fire danger in parts of the state. Smoking is prohibited, he said, in most state parks outside of developed areas.

Mount Diablo State Park, 15 miles southeast of Concord in Contra Costa County, remains closed in the aftermath of a fire that began Aug. 2.

$100,000 is sought for park

Campbell will be seeking another $100,000 from the county park override taxes for continued work on the new Los Gatos Creek Park development.

Last Monday the City Council okayed the Parks and Recreation Commission recommendation that further funding be applied for.

If approved by the county the funds would be used to construct additional passive rest areas, screening, landscaping and berming south of Camden ave. on the east side of the park and additional benches along the west bank. Grading and preparation of a possible natural park area near the Campbell ave. park entrance is also being proposed.
